DETAILED ACTION

Specification

Applicant's explanation of the numbering of the pages of the specification and the sequence listing has clarified the issue that there are no missing pages in the instant application. The Office's new electronic scanning system had entered the instant disclosure and the sequence listing separately, causing the confusion. If this application issues, the sequence listing will be listed after the last page of the disclosure and before the listing of the claims, as Applicant has presented them.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-5, 8, 9 and 20 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-3 and 8-11 of U.S. Patent No. 6,372,206 for reasons of record.

Applicant states that the instant claims are drawn to methods of treatment by administering bovine interferon-tau (IFN τ) while the '206 patent is directed to methods of treatment by administering ovine IFN τ . Applicant argues that the instant invention is not an obvious variation of the '206 claims since ovine and bovine are distinctly different ruminant species and the protein sequences from the two species are different.

Applicant's arguments have been fully considered, but are found unpersuasive. While the protein sequences from both ruminant species are not identical, it is determined that this difference is negligible since Soos et al. teach that IFN τ from cows and sheep share a high degree of sequence homology, i.e. 80.4%, as well as similar activities and functions, see column 6, lines 54-65 of '206. This high degree of similarity between the structural features and functional characteristics of IFN τ from either species renders each an obvious alternative to one another. Applicant has not provided any evidence indicating that the administration of bovine IFN τ induces an unexpected result. Further, human and sheep IFN τ are derived from completely different animal families and yet, are used interchangeably in the '206 patent. Therefore, in view of the high degree of sequence homology as well as similar activities and functions, it is maintained that bovine and ovine IFN τ are obvious alternatives to one another, absent unexpected results to the contrary.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
